

IMImobile in Deloitte's 'Technology Fast 50' India list

Hyderabad, India, November 05, 2007: IMImobile, the global provider of mobile value added services, has been recognized as one of the 50 fastest growing technology companies in India by Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu 'Technology Fast 50' (India) award. The award comes after sustained IMImobile growth and the acquisition of new clients including Jamba, Disney and Google.

Being included on Deloitte's Technology Fast 50 India 2007 program is a significant achievement given the success of the economy in India. In its 3rd year, the program ranks the fifty fastest growing technology companies in India, highlighting both established and emerging companies, based on their revenue growth over the last three financial years.

"IMImobile is delighted to be recognized as one of the 50 most rapidly growing companies in India. The coveted Deloitte award is evidence of a successful year in which we have continued to go from strength to strength to become the leading global mobile value added services provider. The market is very healthy and we will strive to record growth over the coming year." said A.R. Vishwanath, CEO, and IMImobile.

SS Bhat, Chief Technology Officer (CTO), added, "Having pioneered managed VAS services globally, we are delighted to be recognized with the Deloitte Technology Fast 50 India award. Technology is our core strength and clients the world over come to us for management and development of their mobile VAS. The recognition couldn't have come at a better time as we are making forays into the mature markets of Europe and USA."

Deloitte's Technology Fast 50 India winners will be recognized during the Awards Ceremony on Thursday, November 22, 2007. (<http://www.deloitte.com>)